STUDY ABROAD

IUPUI Study Abroad Annual Report 2016-17

This report outlines the outcomes and achievements of the Study Abroad Office at IUPUI regarding:

- Enrollment in Study Abroad
- Programs in Study Abroad
- Honors & Awards
- Faculty & Staff Service to Study Abroad Efforts

The participation data presented are primarily from the 2015-2016 academic year due to the delayed nature of study abroad reporting.

Data is the most current available and is primarily compiled for the Institute for International Education's Open Doors Report, allowing for direct comparison to national trends.*

Per Open Doors reporting, study abroad is defined as travel by U.S. Citizens or U.S. permanent residents outside the U.S. for academic credit only. Non-credit travel and international students are not included for Open Doors, though may be included in future years or certain sections of this report.

Fast Facts

Participation records:

- Number of IUPUI students who studied abroad: 531
 - A 20% increase from 2014–2015
- Number of IUPUI students who studied abroad twice: 11
- Number of international students who studied abroad: 24¹
- Number of study abroad-specific scholarships offered: 37²

¹ Reminder: International students are not included in our definition of study abroad or our final counts.

² Scholarships offered refers to the total number of scholarships offered between all IUPUI schools.

Individual scholarships are only counted once, even if they provide multiple awards.

IRDS Report

The Institutional Research and Decision Support completed an analysis of study abroad at IUPUI during the summer of 2017. Highlights from this report include:

- More than 20% of incoming freshmen indicate a “very good chance” that they will study abroad during their undergraduate career and more than 30% indicated “some chance.”
 - Yet, only 9.5% of 2017 graduates studied abroad
- Students with unmet financial need were significantly less likely to study abroad
- First generation students were significantly less likely to study abroad
- Students who did study abroad:
 - ❑ Were significantly more likely to graduate within 6 years
 - ❑ Reported increased student-faculty interaction
